Through the Northwestern States

Is Abandoned

Mrs. McKinley Said to be Very Ill,and Will be Taken Back to Washington as Soon as Possible.Public Functions May be Cancelled—The Condition of the Patient Causes Grave
Apprehension.

San Francisco, May 16.—Owing to a very serious character of Mrs. McKinley's illness, the president definitely decided to abandon his contemplated northwestern tour and return to Washington direct, as soon as Mrs. McKinley is able to stand the journey. The gravity of Mrs. McKinley's condition has been known to the members of the president's party for several days, but had been concealed in the belief that she would rally, as she has done so frequently in the past, and with a few days of absolute quiet rest would be restored to her normal condition. But her present illness has been attended with entirely new complications which have not yielded to treatment, and the president concluded that it was time the public should be apprised of the situation.

It was the president's own wish that other physicians be called in consultation, because he desired that "thing that science could do should be left undone. He was especially sure that the diagnosis of the attending physicians should agree. Dr. Johnson, an expert in the treatment of nervous disorders, has been called in, and since Mrs. McKinley arrived at a Scott residence she has been decidedly ill. Her extreme weakness has been the most alarming feature of her condition. Her vitality has been a low ebb and she has seldom spoken a word about her. The strain which the president himself has undergone during the past few days has been very great. It has been a personal sacrifice for him to carry out engagements here in order not to disappoint the people, but he has done it unselfishly.

Mrs. McKinley's illness cast a shadow over the whole city. The people have shown their sympathy in a variety of ways. All day long little groups have been standing across the street opposite the Scott residence, intently watching the drawn blinds behind which Mrs. McKinley lies. The way of the serious character of her illness evidently traveled fast, being from all over the country telegrams have been coming to the president expressing sympathy for Mrs. McKinley and asking for tidings of her condition. Just how soon Mrs. McKinley would be able to travel is a question which no one can answer, but it may be necessary for her to remain longer than next Monday, when the party was originally scheduled to start. As soon as she is sufficiently well, the trip will be made by the direct route, probably the Union Pacific. No stops will be made, and it is believed the trip can be made in five days.

Mrs. McKinley is not regarded as in immediate danger of dissolution, but it is an abandonment of hope that she will rally, but in her weakened condition there could not fail to be a recession lest the spark of life out.

Governor Nash and Party. San Francisco, May 16.—Governor Nash and staff were guests of honor at a reception at the Union League club. Postmaster General Hughes was greeted by 600 members of the postal service in this city. He attended a banquet given in his honor by the officers of the postal service. A congressional party spent the day in sightseeing.

Cincinnati Machinists to Strike. Cincinnati, May 16.—At a mass meeting of the machinists of this city, numbering over 5,000 men, decided to strike Monday, May 20. They demand nine hours for a workday and a 10 percent increase in wages. The manufacturers have agreed to the 10 hours, but refuse to grant the increase in salary. All the machinists Hamilton county will be affected. Silent Gompers of the American Federation of Labor will arrive here day night.

Miners Will Help. Indianapolis, May 16.—The United States Workers of America, the strong organization that affiliates with the American Federation of Labor, not up to this time, given open support to machinists, who, throughout the country, are demanding an advance in wages and a nine-hour day, but if there is a general strike, which does seem probable at this time, the mine workers will do what they can to help the machinists win.

Explosion at an Arsenal. Peking, May 16.—An explosion at the arsenal in Kalgan wounded one German officer and four privates. Three German privates are missing. It is supposed that they were blown to pieces. The Germans generally believe that the Chinese intentionally committed the outrage, although evidence to substantiate this view is lacking. A thorough investigation will be made.

Arbitration Suggested. Chicago, May 16.—Machinists and their employers widened the wage scale breach, and the result is an admission on the part of the workmen that a strike probably will be called in all the local shops on Monday morning. The employers profess belief that the machinists will agree to some arbitration scheme.

MURDER

Was Committed in Self DefenseAnd the Jury's Verdict Was "Not Guilty."Liberty and an Acquittal is Attained by Hon. S. D. Stokes.Killed a Presbyterian Minister.

Williamson, W. Va., May 16.—The jury in the case of Hon. S. D. Stokes, charged with the murder of Rev. J. J. Woll, a Presbyterian minister, here last November, returned a verdict of not guilty. Mr. Stokes killed Mr. Woll soon after the minister had preached a sensational sermon in which he scored Williamson socially. In the trial the plea of the prosecution was that Stokes had sought the preacher in his own home, had demanded an apology and provoked a quarrel in which Mr. Woll was killed. But the first witness put on the stand failed to bear out that hypothesis. Otis Reilly was within 150 yards of the men at the time, and at the first pistol shot rushed toward Stokes and Woll. There he found Stokes, although shot twice, still standing with a revolver in his hand. Stokes said: "Woll shot me first, and I had to kill him."

Platt Amendment. Havana, May 16.—A majority of the committee on relations, Senores Tamayo, Villendas and DeQuasada, are in favor of the committee making an immediate report advising the constitutional convention to accept the Platt amendment. Senores Gomez and Silva are strongly opposed to this action. It is said that Senor Gomez, in drawing up the minority report, interprets the explanations of Secretary Root as an admission that the United States will change the Platt amendment if the Cubans insist upon it.

Identified His Man. Omaha, May 16.—Deputy Sheriff Hubbard of Hart county, Ky., arrived in this city and identified Will B. Aiken, who was arrested Saturday as the man charged with the murder of Mrs. Siss Shipp and her 12-year-old grandson, near Mumfordsville, Ky., in October, 1899. After satisfying himself that Aiken is the man he wanted, the officer went to Lincoln to procure requisition papers. They were honored and he started for Kentucky with his prisoner.

London's Suburbs. London, May 16.—The population of the outer ring of the suburbs of London is 2,402,750, as against 1,405,489 in 1891, 950,957 in 1881, and 631,831 in 1871. The total population of Greater London, including the outer ring of suburbs, is now 6,578,784.

Several Others Were Fatally Injured in a West Virginia
Coal Mine.

Fairmont, W. Va., May 16.—Six miners lost their lives, five were fatally injured and three seriously burned in an explosion in the mine of the Georges Creek Coal and Iron company, at Farmington, seven miles west of this city. The dead are: Maynard Beatty of Mannington; Joe Nicholas of Lonsacung, Md.; J. H. Everson of Everson, W. Va.; Dan Altferrel of Farmington; Joe Dominick, Italian; Tony Philippi, Italian. The fatally injured: Charles Carpenter, Carl Hunter, Hershel Everson, Joseph Blaney, unknown Italian.

The mine was only recently put in operation by the company, which is in Baltimore, Md., and 125 men were employed, only 40 of this number working underground. A number of cars were left at the mine and the management decided to break all records with the output. So 15 miners were assigned to a portion of the mines that has been worked for some time and the remainder were put to work on headings some distance away. One of the men in the rooms, it is alleged, had smuggled a torch into the mines, as it gives so much better light than the safety lamps prescribed by the company. The miner did not heed the frequent warnings of

IS DYING.

The Attending Physicians Predict the Death of Mrs. McKinley.

Life is Hanging by a Thread

And Physicians say That Unless a Miracle happens Her Death is Only a Question of a Few Hours and Perhaps Minutes.

There is a shadow over the rejoicing of the populace of San Francisco where President McKinley and his party were received with such great demonstrations, and unusual precautions were taken early this morning to secure quiet in the Scott neighborhood where Mrs. McKinley is lying dangerously ill.

All events for today, in which the President was to have participated, have been abandoned but the President may attend the banquet of the Ohio Society tonight. Friday the President will receive the school children in Golden Gate park and on Saturday he hopes to attend the launching of the Ohio. Miss Barber, Mrs. McKinley's niece, has been selected to launch the battleship instead of her stricken aunt.

BULLETIN

San Francisco, May 16.—9:30 a. m. Mrs. McKinley is very near death's door. At 9:10 a. m. Secretary Cortelyou gave out the following alarming statement: "Physicians report that Mrs. McKinley's condition is not favorable this morning, she having had a sinking spell at 5 o'clock." At the same hour Mr. Cortelyou announced that the President would not attend the banquet of the Ohio Society tonight.

BULLETIN.

San Francisco, May 16.—9:30 or 12:30 central standard time—The President has been notified that unless a miracle happened Mrs. McKinley's life is only a question of a few hours and perhaps minutes. All of the women in the Scott mansion were instructed to withdraw from the house, the nurse alone being permitted to remain. A case of surgical instruments has just been taken into the house and it is believed that an operation will be performed on the patient immediately.

a fellow employee, who warned him of the risk he was taking. The miner fired a shot and the smoke, which was very dense, caught fire from the torch and spread to either the gas or dust, and the explosion resulted. Fortunately the mine did not catch fire to any extent.

ELECTED OFFICERS

And Selected Place For Next Meeting—Ohio Lutheran League.
Mansfield, O., May 16.—The sixth annual convention of the Ohio State Lutheran league closed a two-days' session here. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Rev. Dr. F. W. Epeschau of Mansfield; recording secretary, Margaret Puck of Toledo; corresponding secretary, Rev. Charles F. Steck of Springfield; treasurer, Charles Matthews of Mansfield. Springfield was chosen for the convention next year.

Beveridge's Trip.

Indianapolis, May 16.—United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, who is in New York city, sails for Russia today to study commercial conditions there. During his trip he will also investigate the industrial situation in England and Germany, and he may then extend his journey through Siberia. Senator Beveridge believes that the United States can secure the immense bulk of Russia's foreign trade and that Russian and American relations should grow more intimate.

Southern Presbyterians.

Little Rock, May 16.—There were many arrivals for the Southern Presbyterian general assembly, whose sessions opened today. There were fully 200 commissioners present at the opening. A general reception will be given this evening. The general assembly sessions will extend through 10 days. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. N. M. Woods of Memphis, Tenn.

Turkey Backs Down.

Vienna, May 16.—It is reported from Constantinople that the porte has ordered the Turkish minister in Washington to ratify the international postal convention concluded at the postal congress in Washington several years ago. If this report be true it shows that Turkey regrets having started a conflict with the powers.

Killed by a Marshal.

Princeton, Ind., May 16.—While attempting to arrest Ben Hook at Winslow, Town Marshal Wright was attacked by Joe Hook, a brother of his prisoner, and severely slashed with a knife. The officer drew his revolver, fired and killed his assailant.

RIOTS

In Albany Becoming Serious.

State Militia

And Strikers Clash in
the Streets.Many Men, Women and Children Sabre-Slashed
and Trampled.A Gang of Frightened Non-Union Men Given an Exciting Ride
Across the City With a Cavalry Escort.

Albany, May 16.—So serious is the situation here over the traction company strike that Governor Odell has postponed his proposed trip to the state institutions. Two thousand armed soldiers are now within the city limits, more are coming and 2,500 are in readiness to move to Troy when Governor Odell so orders. The streets are thronged with excited men, women and children. As long as the traction company does not attempt to move cars or bring in non-union men, the crowds on the street remain good-natured except for taunting the soldiers and police, but the instant an attempt is made to work on the lines or bring nonunion men in, the crowd becomes frenzied and bloodshed results.

Citizens sabre-slashed, nonunion men with broken limbs and bloody faces, women and children trampled under foot, soldiers maimed with flying missiles and leaders in the crowd beaten with muskets, were some of the results of the day. Anticipating an effort to move the cars in Troy, Major Rohe has ordered several regiments to hold themselves in readiness to move.

Mob and militia closed in combat Wednesday night, but by the accident of fortune there were no serious casualties. It was the introduction of more nonunion men to take the places of the striking traction employees that produced the violence. Seventy-five nonunion men reached the Union depot, and their delivery at Quail street barn, a mile and a half away, was made with a dash under cavalry escort, with mob resistance in almost every block. Frenzied men swarmed through the police lines, surged around the fast-moving cavalrymen and fought to get at the cowed nonunion men inside the circle of galloping horses. Several of the mob were knocked down by cornered cavalrymen. In the passage through the streets few of the nonunionists escaped the flying bricks and stones that were hurled at them, but less than a dozen were badly hurt. The courage of nearly a dozen of the nonunion men failed them in the opening spurt through the crowds, and they sprang from the wagons that carried them to mingle with and be lost in the crowd.

Applied the Salve.

Peking, May 16.—Dr. Mumm Von Schwartzstein gave a farewell banquet to General Chaffee, at which he paid a grateful tribute to the Americans and to their conduct during their stay in China. Replying to the compliments of the German minister, General Chaffee said: "Some of my most pleasant memories of China will be of my association with the Germans, and I shall always esteem myself fortunate in having been able to meet and admire that grand old man, Count Von Waldersee. I hope he will see his way to return to Germany through the United States." Count Von Waldersee, who seemed deeply touched, said he hoped it would be possible for him to do so. General Chaffee had suggested.

Porto Rican Exports.

San Juan, Porto Rico, May 16.—Porto Rican exports from Jan. 1 until May 1 amount to $3,180,400, of which $5,284,311 went to the United States. Chief among the exports was sugar, of which $4,302,150 went to the United States and $20,180 went to foreign countries. Of the exports of coffee, the United States received $4,330, while $1,642,554 went to foreign countries, divided between Spain, Cuba and France. The United States received $220,206 worth of leaf tobacco, while foreign countries received $229,563 worth. The remainder of the exports, amounting to $1,761,417, were of cattle, cigars and fruits.

Want the President.

Indianapolis, May 16.—An effort will be made to have President McKinley attend the dedication of the soldiers' monument and deliver an address. The time for the dedication has not yet been set, but there is a strong sentiment in favor of having the ceremonies occur the week of July 21 to 28, when the entire national guard of the state will be here at its annual encampment. The monument has been completed after 11 years' work and an outlay of $360,000.

Bank Looted.

Munfordville, Ky., May 16.—Robbers entered the Hart County Deposit Bank and Trust company's building and stole $3,000 in money and possibly more. The vault was wrecked with nitroglycerin. Three private boxes were stolen. All contained money and valuable papers. Bonds and many other valuable papers were taken from the safe. The extent of the damage has not yet been definitely settled. No clew.

Ohio Prohibitionists.

Akron, O., May 16.—The Prohibition state convention opened here with a large attendance. The usual preliminaries were harmoniously disposed of. There is an abundance of candidates for the offices, among those mentioned for governor being: E. Jay Pinney of Cuyahoga county, Rev. R. F. Lane of Lucas county, Hon. C. F. Bough of Columbus.

QUARREL

at CaviteResulted in the Arrest of a Lieut. Colonel.One Officer Was Ordered Home and the Commander Succeeding Him Denounced His Acts.

Manila, May 16.—An unhappy situation has developed at the headquarters of marines in Cavite. Colonel Henry C. Cochrane was recently ordered home, and Lieutenant Colonel Mancel C. Goodrell, formerly commander under Colonel Cochrane at Olongapo, was ordered to relieve him. When Lieutenant Colonel Goodrell arrived to succeed Colonel Cochrane the two officers had an altercation, which resulted in Lieutenant Colonel Goodrell's denouncing alleged acts of Colonel Cochrane in connection with the Olongapo command. Colonel Cochrane reported to Rear Admiral Kempf that Lieutenant Colonel Goodrell was intoxicated, and arrested him ostensibly on the authority of Rear Admiral Kempf. The latter disclaimed having given any such order. Lieutenant Colonel Goodrell remains in custody and Lieutenant Colonel Allan C. Keilon has been placed in command at Cavite, relieving Colonel Cochrane. All are now awaiting the result of a court of inquiry.

Winter-Quarters.But There are About Eighteen or Nineteen Thousand Men in the Field and He Can't Accomplish That End.

London, May 16.—A Pretoria correspondent, describing the return of winter in South Africa, says: "This will mean no respite to the troops, no moving into winter quarters, but only a continuance of the most demoralizing warfare ever undertaken." The correspondent then describes a "strenuous scheme which is on foot to prevent the enemy retreating north into winter quarters," but does not appear to be very sanguine of success. "The figures of the intelligence bureau," he says, "shows that there are still between 18,000 and 19,000 burghers available for service, although no commando is known to exist larger than 800 men."

United Brethren.

Frederick, Md., May 16.—The day at the general conference of the United Brethren in Christ church was taken up principally in filing the reports of various boards and referring them to their respective committees. Dr. Matthews read a petition, which, if passed, will equalize the lay representation with the ministers and reduce the general conferences hereafter from 284 to 184 delegates. Rev. G. N. Sherrick, in his report of the church erection committee, said there were about 1,000 congregations without churches, and recommended the continuation of the board to assist in providing places of worship.

Alger Goes Abroad.

New York, May 16.—Russell A. Alger, former secretary of war, and Mrs. Alger, sailed for Europe on the St. Louis. "I am going over for my health," said General Alger, "as I have not had a rest since the campaign of 1886. I am going to Carlsbad, returning in August."

CALM

Of French Politics
Broken.

Two Incidents

Renew Turmoil in the Republic.Marquis De Lur Saluces Returns and a Scandal
Breaks LooseAffecting M. Monis, the French Minister of Justice—Rumored
That the Latter Will Resign His Office.

Paris, May 16.—The political calm was rudely broken by two incidents—the return of the Marquis De Lur-Saluces, and the alleged exposition of a scandal affecting M. Monis, the French minister of justice. It is rumored that M. Monis will resign in consequence of this exposition.

It appears that a German firm, exhibiting brandy at the recent exposition, was excluded from an award by the jury of awards on account of the appearance of their bottled brandy and the label employed, which were regarded as unfair imitations of French cognac. Nevertheless this German firm was included in the list of those awarded gold medals in the official journal. The Libre Parole points out that M. Monis was the honorary president of the concern exhibiting this class of alcoholic product, and insinuates that he is responsible for the forgery, by which he personally profits.

The return of the Marquis De Lur-Saluces is characterized by the ministerial press as a supreme maneuver by the royalist and religious congregations to delay the senate's action on the law of associations, as it is imagined the senate will be obliged to suspend its legislative work in order to immediately convert itself into a high court. The ministerial newspapers predict, however, that this maneuver will fail, because the senate will dispose of the law of associations first, and even assist the government by hastening the adoption of the bill. The Marquis De Lur-Saluces has not yet been arrested, and is not likely to be until Friday, this being a holiday.

To Suppress Sugar Bounties.

London, May 16.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, has indicated that an international conference to consider proposals for the suppression of sugar bounties is expected to meet shortly.

Boxers Scattered.

Berlin, May 16.—The war office has received the following from the German headquarters at Peking: "General Liu's troops attacked and scattered 1,000 Boxers 45 kilometers south of Pao Ting Fu."

Havana Dockmen Out.

Havana, May 16.—The stevedores and lightermen went on a general strike against Zaldo & Company, who control the lighter privileges in Havana harbor.

Wedding Bells

Chimed Merrily for an Event

That Occurred at the Residence of J. W. Peltier Last Evening.

Miss Mary E. Peltier Becomes the Bride of Mr. Elliott E. Clapper —Other News from the South Side.

Merrily the wedding chimes rang out at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Peltier, of 321 south Pine street, yesterday evening at 8 o'clock. The occasion of the joyful event was the happy celebration of the nuptials in the presence of a concourse of admiring friends, of Miss Mary E. Peltier and Elliott E. Clapper. Wily Cupid's triumph was attended by various features, which marked the joining in holy wedlock, as one of the most elaborate wedding functions of the season in this vicinity. Promptly at the appointed time, the bridal party were ushered into the prettily decorated parlor, resounding with the sweet strains of a wedding march. Amid the happy surroundings Rev. W. H. Leatherman, pastor of Grace M. E. church, addressed the words of sacred union; and pronounced a hymeneal benediction upon those thus united. Mr. and Mrs. Clapper held a brief reception to receive the congratulations of friends. Shortly afterward the Grace church choir society, numbering about fifty, called unexpectedly. Taking up a position in front of the house they serenaded the newly wedded couple. At the conclusion of the musical the lady operators of the telephone exchange joined the choral in the impromptu entertainment. As these guests entered the residence they were each presented with flowers as souvenirs of the occasion. Charles Peltier, a brother of the bride, received the guests, who later formally congratulated the bride and groom, who in a few well fitting remarks welcomed one and all. Rev. W. H. Leatherman delivered a brief appropriate address, after which a delicate wedding luncheon was served. At a late hour the festivities terminated. The bride is the daughter of J. W. Peltier, resided one of South Lima's most estimable young ladies. Until recently she was chief operator at the telephone exchange. Mr. Clapper is a popular salesman at Lichtenstader's store. Both have hosts of friends who hope that the sunshine of their marital life may never be obscured by clouds of adversity. Mr. and Mrs. Clapper will commence housekeeping immediately at 321 south Pine street, where the groom has prepared an attractive home for his bride.

South Lima Methodists are anticipating with pleasure the holding in Grace church of the fifty-first session of the Lima district conference, which will meet here June 10th and 11th. The secretary, Rev. W. H. Leatherman, is completing the arrangement of an extensive program. It is expected that the district will be represented by fully one hundred ministers. The conference will undoubtedly be one of the greatest religious occurrences on the south side in years.

The friends of Noah Shoemaker, of south Pine street, will be glad to learn that he is convalescent. South Lima relatives of Dale and Bertha Rothrock, who recently visited here, have received invitations to attend the commencement exercises of the Ada high school at which they will graduate, Friday evening. The friends and relatives of Misses Laura Gerkey and Mabelle Schwin have also received invitations to the exercises.

Friday evening the Congregational church Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. E. F. Davis, on Circular street. Pork Chops 8 cents a pound at Crossley Bros., 715 south Main street. John Terry, of south Main street, fell from his wheel last night and painfully bruised and cut himself. A bouncing baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Phillips, on south Elizabeth, this morning. A nice line of Cakes at Crossley Bros., 715 south Main street. It While visiting with her parents in Van Wert, Mrs. T. E. Bishop, of Holmes avenue, became very ill. She is now at her home somewhat convalescent. Quite a large audience attended the lecture given by Rev. Cornwall at the south Main street Presbyterian church last night. All were well pleased. W. E. Slater returned this morning from a business trip to Ottawa. It will be gratifying to many to know that Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Smith have returned from their extended western trip. Mr. Smith's health is improved and he will immediately assume his duties as pastor of the south Main street Presbyterian church.

The refinery fire department did good work yesterday in extinguishing a small blaze at the refinery. Charles Keller has returned from a business trip to Tipton, Ind. After a severe illness Mrs. W. H. Tompkins, of south Pine street, is convalescent. Last night L. J. Schwartz, returned from a business engagement at Tipton, Ind. For her guest Miss Cora Betz, of south Pine street, has Miss Shivaly, of Wapakoneta. Today Mrs. M. A. Dilly, of Kenton, is visiting Mrs. H. M. Dilly, of south Lima. After an absence of several weeks, engaged in oil operations at Minster, J. W. Rathbone, of Greenlawn avenue, is at home suffering from an acute attack of rheumatism. South Lima friends were visited yesterday by C. F. Brock, of Garrett, Ind. The boys' brigade of Grace M. E. church, is being drilled by Rev. W. H. Leatherman for the Children's day exercises at that church, June 9th. A few days ago G. E. Bishop, who recently invented an oil burner which was lately patented, received an offer of $10,000 from a firm in Texas, if he can guarantee that the burner will use crude oil for heating purposes without smoking. The inventor feels confident he can meet the requirements. If he is successful it will undoubtedly prove very remunerative. The south side has produced a hypnotist who promises to develop much power in the science. For some time John Sawyer has been making a study of the art with very satisfactory results. A few evenings ago he gave an exhibition in which he displayed extraordinary ability, several subjects being completely under his control.

LOSERS IN WALL STREET
Many Outsiders Frantic Over Losses in the Great Smash.

ROOM TRADERS, TOO, HIT HARD.

Wall Street an Inferno Until Deliveries of Northern Pacific Were Suspended—Startling Story Told by a Young Matron—The Difference in Losers.

Until Thursday morning, May 9, 1901, the Black Friday of 32 years ago was recalled to express the notion of all the evil that could ever befall Wall street, says the New York Sun. In speaking of the happenings of that day and their consequences an old trader said: "On the great Black Friday there were failures in plenty, and the question in everybody's mouth was, 'Who will be the next?' Blue Thursday, May 9, 1901, has not seen a single important failure. That which makes Blue Thursday disastrous is that so many small fortunes have been wiped out and so many persons of small incomes have been ruined. This fact will make the day felt by the butchers and bakers all over town. After the experience of Thursday it will be many a moon before the general public will venture again into speculation as it has been venturing the past two months. "The wonderful trading down here is to be accounted for not by the enormous transactions of the big fellows, but by the operations of thousands of men and women who were led to believe that it was easy to make quick fortunes in stock gambling. They had heard of the luck of their friends; they had read in the newspapers of the luck of persons they had never heard of, and they concluded to take a dier in the street. Many of them got out by the middle or end of last week, and they are richer by thousands, many of them, than they were before they speculated. Many more staid in too long, and now they are many dollars worse off than nothing. "A week ago the town was talking about the fortunes that had been made in Wall street, especially by the Chicago crowd. The fact is, that many of the fortunes were paper fortunes. The fortunate ones were still in the market, not having been content to close out and make their profits. The majority of these were small traders who couldn't stand a squeeze, and now they are 'broke.' Blue Thursday will be remembered longer by more people than 40 days like the Black Friday." At the Produce Exchange just after 11 o'clock on Thursday morning a cab drove up, and a colored manservant helped an elderly woman to the street. She might have been 60 years old and was dressed in black, although not in mourning. She hurried into the Produce Exchange building and went up in the elevator to the Stock Exchange floor. Calling a messenger boy, she told him to call out a certain broker. In a few moments the boy came back with the statement that the broker was not then on the floor. "What is the price of United States Steel preferred?" asked the woman of the messenger. The boy told her that the last quotation was 57. The woman seemed about to collapse, and her servant stepped forward to support her. She collected herself somewhat and then buried her face in her handkerchief and wept as if she had been suddenly afflicted with a great grief. The colored man kept suggesting that it would be better to go home, and finally the woman consented. As she went down the Produce Exchange steps to the street she was heard to say: "Jackson, I'm utterly and completely ruined. I haven't a dollar to my name." The secretary to the president of one of the largest banks in town left the bank shortly after 3 Thursday afternoon to catch a train for his home in the suburbs. A friend met him as he was leaving the bank and noticed that he seemed to be all broken up about something. Asking if anything was the matter, the bank president's secretary all but broke down and said: "Billy, this market has done me up. I went in with every cent I had saved, and every dollar has been wiped clean from it to my wife, and we'll try to start all over again. It took me five years to save up what I've lost in the last three hours. I ought to have known better, but I didn't, and the only thing for me to do now is to take my medicine." The havoc that was wrought in the fortunes of bank clerks and brokers' bookkeepers and accountants and office boys and, in fact, nearly all of the employed in Wall street was something prodigious. It was the real thing in the way of hard luck stories that one heard, and it was easy to see that the wounds which had been inflicted were deep and painful. There was pandemonium on the Stock Exchange, but the scenes there were not to be compared with those enacted in the offices where the women trade. As the tickers showed that prices were going down and down until it seemed as if there was no bottom to the market the women who were gathered round the tickers, 10 and 15 and a score deep, simply went clean off their heads. It was really pitiful to hear some of the stories they told. Some of them had borrowed money to speculate with, and so long as prices kept advancing they believed that there was practically no end to the money they might make. One young matron told a rather startling story, in the overflow of her feelings, of how she had been led into temptation. "Mrs. So-and-so told me of the money she had been making down here on

$50," she said, "and I didn't see why I couldn't do just as well as she had done. I spoke to my husband about it, and he told me the best thing I could do would be to forget whatever Mrs. So-and-so had told me. Then he made me mad by saying that only women who were ill bred and vulgar ever went down into Wall street to speculate. If he hadn't said that, if he hadn't made me mad, maybe I wouldn't have come down, and I wish I hadn't. "I didn't have any money to start with, and so I went to Black's (the young woman mentioned the name of one of the leading dry goods stores) and got them to give me $300 in cash and charge it to my husband's account. Last Thursday I was $7,000 richer. I had no idea that the nasty things would go down the way they have, and so I staid in. Now I am utterly cleaned out, and what's more, I owe this broker pretty nearly $300. He knows my husband, and he encouraged me by putting up some margin for me. How in the world I will ever be able to make all this good without telling Jack is more than I know." The old time room traders were hit harder than they have been in years. The short interest in Northern Pacific, outside the big men, was large, and anybody who had other lines of stocks just dumped them on the market in the hope of realizing enough to make good their shorts. At 11 o'clock Wall street could best be described as General Sherman once described war in a word. It was, in truth, hell. But just when everybody was sure that he and everybody else were ruined, the New York News bureau sent over the wires an announcement which literally stemmed the downward current of prices, and as soon as its meaning was generally appreciated gave to the market a new grip on itself. The announcement was as follows: "J. P. Morgan & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. have just agreed not to enforce deliveries on Northern Pacific common today."

When this news became generally known through Wall street everybody felt easier, and it was said later in the day that the announcement had prevented many failures. The scenes in the large brokers' offices served to bring out violent contrasts in human nature as the ticker beat out the word "Eun" for various small traders. One man had been studying the tape intently for half an hour, in which prices had steadily crashed down. Suddenly he straightened up. "I've just dropped $30,000, and I am ruined," he remarked nonchalantly. Then he lighted a cigar and strolled slowly out of the office. A minute afterward another man looked up from the tape with a haggard face. "My God!" he stammered. "I've lost $4,000! Think of it—$4,000! What shall I do? Oh, what shall I do?" Then he burst into tears and staggered out, declaring that he would "get full of whisky and try to forget the d—robbers." "That man," asserted the broker, "still has $10,000 invested in this office." Men took defeat with quiet smiles or with bursts of tears. Character and temperament were clearly revealed. Into the customers' room of one old brokerage house a customer rushed, yelling wildly. "Has the time come?" he shouted. "I was at luncheon when I heard you had failed!" "Not much, old man," said the white haired head of the firm. "I got my look in coming and going." One old man had sat grimly watching the quotations for an hour while stocks went clattering down. Suddenly he straightened up and brushed his shoulders. "I've just dropped a cool hundred thousand, and I am ruined. Pretty tough on an old chap," he remarked, lighting a fresh cigar with a steady hand. Then he sauntered out. "My God!" shouted a man who could not have been 30 years old. He jumped up and began to pace up and down before the board. "I've lost $90,000. Think of it! What shall I do?" He began to sob and sat down again. No one noticed him in the least. "I'm going out to get full of rum and forget the robbers," he blundered and fairly ran from the office, howling over some men who were hurrying in.

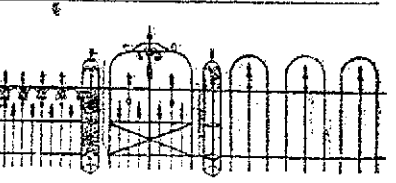

Growing Desire to Learn Spanish.
One evidence of the growing interest taken by the people of the United States in their new possessions is found in their recently discovered desire to learn the Spanish language, says the New York Sun. Within the last year Spanish has made great advances in the colleges and universities. In the high schools of the larger cities also it is making its way and threatening to outstrip French and German. Yale university is a case in point. For many years Spanish had been neglected, but already more than 100 students have announced that they wish to take it next year.

Memorial Day.
The blossoms of our sunny clime remind us of the days we owe To those, our martyred dead, who lie like forest flowers or Like the hopes that with our cause have passed away. And so we gather in our lozes To scatter flowers about their graves, To memory of the deeds they wrought, The valor of our fallen braves. O thou who hold'st the breath of Kings as common dust And rulest empires with thy might, be thou our guide! Our land so fair, preserve in prosperous peace; Direct the councils of our states; Give to our rulers wisdom so divine, Making them truly good, sublimely great; While time revolves in circling orbs of day or night, Or radiant splendor or a paler light. Above these merced mounds, where'er they be, Shall hallowed memories fondly cling; And maidens with the flowers of spring Wave garlands for each hero there, And sighs that mingle with these offerings rare, Like incense breath of holy prayer, A grateful fragrance o'er them shed; Above our honored, forgotten dead! —B. E. Y. Harrison in Atlanta Constitution.

BURGLARS

Break into the McCullough Lake Pump Station.

A Gold Watch Chain and an Overcoat Stolen—Thieves Overlooked $20.

Night before last burglars broke into the pump station engine house at the McCullough lake and forcing open the door of a locker, they secured a gold watch chain and an overcoat belonging to engineer Frank Bernard but overlooked $20 that the latter had hidden in the locker. The same night watchman George Flinck found two men attempting to steal fish from the north side of the lake near the ice houses. They escaped by running.

GRAND

Is the Term Most Appropriate

In Referring to the Carl Organ Recital.

St. Paul's Beautiful Edifice was Packed to Standing Room and Everybody Present was Delighted.

St. Paul's Lutheran church has never held a larger or more delighted audience than that which gathered last night to enjoy the organ recital by Wm. C. Carl, organist and director of the choir of the Old First Presbyterian church of New York, assisted by Mrs. Ellen Fletcher-Caples, soprano of the same choir.

The hour set was eight o'clock, but long before that the ushers were at a loss for places to seat the people and chairs had to be placed in the aisles. Even these were exhausted and not a few late arrivals found entrance to the church impossible.

The fortunate ones were prepared to hear a recital somewhat out of the ordinary and they were not disappointed. Prof. Carl came nearer exemplifying the expression "making an organ talk" than any one who has been before Lima audiences as a performer in years, and the solos of Miss Caples reached the heart and thrilled the audience.

Especially grand was Rubinstein's Beve Angelique, which brought out all the rich tones of the organ, under the exquisite touch of the master hand. Every number on the program merited applause, but Rev. Bossart requested the audience to refrain from any demonstration, and, although moved to the very soul by the music, feelings had to be drowned, and the only manifestations of approval was the stir which followed the conclusion of each selection.

The people of St. Paul's church deserve the hearty thanks of the music loving people of Lima for providing such a rare treat, and those present displayed their liberality by contributing generously to the collection, which was preferred rather than a set price of admission.

My heart and hand another claimed. His pie had come too late. It's ever thus with people without pluck and vim.

Latest Rumor

Is That S. R. Kramer is to Succeed

Bert Zartman as a Clover Leaf Division Superintendent.

Mr. Kramer Went to Toledo Today to Meet Mr. Norton of the Clover Leaf—Fast Run Made on L. E. & W.

The latest and most interesting piece of railroad news that could be gathered today is that a rumored rumor to the effect that S. R. Kramer, who day before yesterday retired from the office of division superintendent for the L. E. & W. will succeed Bert Zartman in the office from which he retired his just resigned as superintendent of the St. Louis division of the Clover Leaf with headquarters at Chicago, Ill.

One fact that gives good grounds for the rumor is that Mr. Kramer has been considered the best candidate for the position of division superintendent from Louisville, Ky. to New York, and from Richmond, Va. to Montreal, where the state was transferred to the Lake Shore. The position consisted of engine No. 192, a combination car and three sleepers and was in charge of conductor John Dwyer with engineer Charles Foster, the engine driver. The train was composed of 20 cars, including 10 passenger cars, 10 freight cars, and 10 mail cars, including all stops one hour and 15 minutes in this city while the company of 17 people took lunch at the lunch room. The train left at 10:00 a. m. and reached Lima at 1:00 p. m. This morning the train was running time with stops delayed being only six minutes an hour. It could hardly be from this distance of 100 miles the road was made in 10 minutes, including on stop. The engineer of the company was Mr. Dwyer.

SLIPPED A TIRE

While making the regular passenger run between Deshler and this city last evening, says the Findlay Courier, engine No. 1 on the C. H. & D. slipped a tire just beyond McComb. The accident rendered the engine practically worthless for the time being, but the conductor managed to get his train to McComb, where engine No. 7 backed it into this city. The accident delayed the train over an hour and it was more than this late over the schedule time of 7:30 when it pulled into the north Main street station. The damaged engine has been sent to the Lima shops for repairs.

NOTES.

Conductor Wm. Wise, of the C. H. & D., who was recently promoted to extra passenger conductor, is on passenger conductor Chesbro's run.

C. M. Overly, superintendent of construction of the C. H. & D., has some of his men at work making changes in the depot at Troy. The interior is also being repainted.

Conductor Clifford, of the C. H. & D., is still confined to his home and it will be some weeks yet before he recovers sufficiently to resume his run. The report in the Gazette this morning that he had relieved conductor Kelly, who is sick, was not founded on fact.

The Erie freight house at Marion was broken into Tuesday evening and a part of a case of Crystal Rock beer was stolen. Some other boxes were broken into, but nothing was taken.

ONLY

One Case for the State's Attention.

Clem Dickman Will be Tried June 17.

Prosecutor Klinger Has Cleaned Out the Jail With But Little Cost to State and County.

Prosecuting Attorney Klinger has been particularly fortunate during his term of office in cleaning up the jail after the grand jury sessions, without the expense of trials as in most instances a plea of guilty followed and the prisoners were hurried off to the penitentiary, out of harm's way. It is true also in regard to those who hoped to prove their innocence in the cases in which the accused compelled the state to convict have ended in almost every instance in conviction. Few of the transgressors have gotten away.

There were a number of indictments returned by the last grand jury, but only one case is left to dispose of, a plea of guilty having been accepted from all except Clem Dickman. The latter was indicted for manslaughter for the killing of Jack Carroll, in front of the Elk cafe, and his trial has been set for June 17th. The proceedings will attract considerable interest as the assault was a peculiar one and both men were well known about town.

bright tints of springtime flowers, to the dining room. And here, amid the girls' colors, and a pyramid of flowers, they were served to delicious and dainty lunch.

The evening, the young ladies gave their farewell reception to the young men. Upon arrival, the boys were escorted to the college room.
They were arranged the curios collected from different colleges, the bright flags and colors being Harvard, Princeton, Western Reserve, and Yale. All formality was put aside and each one seemed to enter the spirit of the evening. The dinner was served only too quickly, and the hand of winged time pointed all too finger to the fleeting hours.
The guests were treated to a repast as the college girls know how to do. The evening was one whirl of jokes, and after a few college jokes, company separated, each one feeling how rapidly the joys of the 1901 commencement season were passing appreciating the generous hospitality of the hostess who so kindly led her home.

The Saturday circle will meet on Friday afternoon with Mrs. N. Wells, west Wayne street. The roll call will be from Helen Hunt
son's writings.

On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. A.
Lahle, of west Spring street, entertained at dinner in honor of Mr.
Mrs. Wm. Metheny.

A Missionary society of the first church was entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. A. MacDonell, at North street.

A hospitable home of Mrs. J. Custard, of North and West street,
was open Tuesday for a reception given by a number of ladies of the Aid society. The rooms were dearly decorated with spring blossoms, the fragrant lilacs being on every table. During the hours allotted there was an excellent musical program, informally, by a number of ladies. In the dining room dainty cake and coffee were enjoyed.

A beautiful home of Mr. and Custard, at west North street,
Saturday the scene of a very entertaining reception, given by a committee of ladies of the Trinity M. E.
church, and a large number were present. These monthly receptions are the able management of the society president, Mrs. J. D.
and are exceedingly pleasant social and the cordial welcome extended to the ladies by Mrs. Custard and daughter, Miss Della, made of yesterday a very pleasant occasion.

BOARD

Of Trade Will be Consulted Soon

On a Proposition for a Free
Street Fair.

Representative of the Sturgis Carnival Co. Now in the City for the Purpose of Launching the Project.

F. C. Huffman, a representative of the Sturgis (Cincinnati) Carnival
Co., arrived in the city from Columbus today to endeavor to interest the citizens of Lima and especially the members of the city council and Lima board of trade in a proposition to hold a public street fair in this city during the week commencing June, third. The proposition that Mr. Huffman will make will be to give the street fair in several of the streets in the principal business portion of the city, providing space
for booths for merchants' displays and at the same time leaving sidewalks and streets sufficiently open to cause no inconvenience to either vehicle or foot traffic. No admission fee will be charged for entrance into the territory occupied by the street fair, the only expense to visitors being to those who visit the interior of the tents and buildings in which various performances, manage-ries and kindred attractions are held.
For the outside, there are to be numerous free attractions that will be provided by the promoters in compliance with a contract they are willing to make with the city council in connection with the adoption of a resolution permitting the Sturgis company the use of certain streets also to be designated by the city council.

The Sturgis company recently conducted a street fair at Shelby-ville, Ind., and according to the Lima-Columbus Journal, the affair was a very pleasing success.
The company will hold a street fair
in the city of Chillicothe next week and will conduct one in Columbus
during the week commencing May 27.

OIL STOVE

Exploded and Flames Ignited
Some Furniture.

Considerable Damage Done in the Rooms Occupied by L. Platt, on North Pierce Street.

This morning at 8:40 o'clock the fire department was called out by an alarm from box 75, fire having started in a residence of north Pierce street by the explosion of an oil stove. The flames from the oil ignited a lounge,
and other furniture in the room soon caught fire, and damage to the extent of about $100 was done before the flames were extinguished by the chemicals thrown by the fire department.

The rooms in which the fire occurred are occupied by L. Platt, and apartments in the same house are occupied by C. F. Bryan. The house is owned by Al. Wheeler, but was only slightly damaged. Mr. Platt had no insurance on his furniture.

DUST

Found in Texas Oil
Territory

Does Not Stop

Downward Trend of the Oil Market.

Another Slump of One and Two Cents Went the Rounds Today.

South Lima Crude Down to 74 Cents
on the Barrel—Westminster Field is Attracting Attention.

The members of the oil producing fraternity are quite at sea on all points concerning the continued slump in the crude market. The reports that arrive from various sections of the country are bewildering. Oil is being found in nearly every state of this Union,
and in quantities that lead to the conclusion that too much of it is liable to be produced. Even the market for fuel oil seems to be glutted, for the California producers are seriously considering the question of having a 30 days' shut down. Of course there will probably be none of the old heads that had a hand in the shut down in Pennsylvania in 1872 in this new move in California. The operators of this latter state should have drilled fewer wells during the past year and spent some of their product. This advice might be of service to those of other states that could be named. Here at home quite a consumption could be created by burning the stuff in drilling and pumping wells. But instead the producers buy high priced coal and sell stocks monthly with their production.

The latest report from Texas announces the drilling in of a worthless duster but nevertheless it was a new well in Texas and in regular order the oil market took another tuck in its skirts, reducing the value of eastern crude two cents and Lima and Indiana oil one cent.

DUSTER IN TEXAS.

Late advices from the Texas field are that the Kelley-Keiser well near the gusher in the Bullock survey is a rank duster, and has been abandoned.
This is the well that was sold at a handsome figure before it was completed, and heavily stocked by the new owners.

This makes all told eight failures and nine producing wells. The Texas excitement is subsiding to a great extent and people from this section of the country are keeping their eyes on Indiana and Kentucky. In the Indiana district there is better prospects than any other field now upon the United States map.—Toledo Bee.

NOW THE FEATURE.

The chief point of interest in the local oil fields at present is the territory that was opened up north of West Minster by the American Oil Co. on the Howard lease a few weeks ago.
The Sherman company's well on the Hefner, is reported to have made 197 barrels in 12 hours after it was shot.
The statement is also made that it has produced 600 barrels without the aid of a pump. The Gilbert Oil Co.'s well, which is two locations east, is almost as strong a producer. The Ohio Oil Co. is starting a well on the John Hasthorpe farm to the southeast.

RESORTED

To Law to Keep Relatives Away.

Dr. McCall Uses Measures
That are Sure

And Explains That the Present Condition of His Wife
Made the Step
Necessary.

An unusual proceeding was begun
in Justice Duffield's court yesterday evening, when Dr. McCall, the newly elected health officer filed an affidavit against several relatives of his wife on the charge of trespassing.
The affidavit named Mr. and Mrs.
George Williams, parents of Mrs.
McCall, John Williams, a brother, and Milton Aimer, an uncle, and Constable Cremona proceeded to serve notice upon each of them.
They all appeared later and waived examination, being bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $100.

According to Dr. McCall, he was forced to take such action because of his wife's serious illness. He says that her relatives have been coming to the house at frequent intervals and in his absence blaming him for her present condition, making grave charges against him and going so far as to assert that there was a motive behind it.

Mrs. McCall some months ago suffered a stroke of paralysis, and although improved, is far from recovery. Two reputable physicians have been called in consultation and Mrs. McCall has had every care and attention. The family trouble has grown to such an extent that Dr.
McCall was finally led to take harsh measures.

PERSONAL.

Miss Lillian Armstrong, of St.
Marys, was the guest of Mrs. Blanche Wheeler Tuesday.

Mrs. C. M. Hughes, of west High street, went to Lima Tuesday accompanied by Mrs. Charles Aves and children, of Norwalk.

Scott McGowan was in Delphos
yesterday afternoon.

Jacob Loefer, of St. Marys, was in the city last night.

Mesdames J. C. Rupright and W.
A. Germaus were guests of friends in Lima Tuesday.—Van Wert Bulletin.

Mrs. J. S. Michael, of Van Wert, has returned home after a visit with Lima friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lantz, of east
High street, had as their guest on last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rex, of Redkey, Ind.

Mrs. P. M. Cainer, from near Staunton, Va., is visiting her sister, Mrs. J.
W. Weaver, west Wayne street, who has been having very bad health.

H. J. Klevora, ditch supervisor of Marion township, was in Lima on business yesterday.

Mr. Ed. Rowe, from Lima, and J. C.
Freeman, from Toledo were guests of W. B. Freeman yesterday. They came down to see him properly initiated in the third degree of Masonry last night.—Troy Record.

Mrs. Martin Kelly and son John,
and Matthew Frawley and son James,
received a telegram today, conveying the sad news of the death of Daniel Frawley, a brother of Mrs. Martin Kelly and of Matthew Frawley, at Ithaca, N. Y. They will leave tonight at 9:02 over the Erie to attend the funeral.

Mrs. John Naylor and daughter, of Cridersville, are spending the day with Mrs. Enos Fisher, of east Market street.

Rev. Silas Moot, of Zion church, has

STUDENTS

At Ada are on Dress Parade
Today.

United States Army Officers are Conducting a Competitive Drill
in the College Town.

Ada is in possession today of the college boys, who are watching with great interest the result of the competitive drill. Dr. R. J. Thomson, who returned from there this morning says the town is full of people and the demonstration surpassing all previous collegiate events.

Two United States army officers have the affair in charge and the students have been marked off into five companies, one of which is put through the drill while the others are kept out of sight and hearing.
At sunrise this morning a salute of 15 guns was fired which resulted in the breaking of considerable window glass.

MUSLIN UNDERWEAR

IS IN FULL SWING.

A FEW PERTINENT POINTS IN CONNECTION WITH THIS DISPLAY AND SALE.

There is a price point below which quality cannot exist. With all the economy of close buying, close figuring and modern methods of manufacture, there are certain items of cost which cannot be eliminated.

The Muslin Underwear on sale here at special prices is worthy of more than the usual amount of attention. Firm, evenly woven muslins of good weight, but not of the weight that comes of loading the fabric with starch; sewing that shows attention by skilled workpeople; no missed stitches or uneven seams; good lengths; correct widths; generous hems and new trimmings.

All this in our Muslin Underwear that comes to you with a modest margin of profit added for the maker and for us.

SANURY CURES

If the fingers are enlarged or painful at the joints; if it hurts to take your rings on and off, it is the certain sign that you are gouty. We do not mean that you may not be gouty without having these signs. The accumulation of uric acid may be in other parts of the body, possibly in the larger joints of the knees or feet, or may be in the sheaths of the muscles. Possibly inflamed tonsils and sore throat are the only signs that have so far shown themselves. Remember that Sanury is the perfect solvent of uric acid; that it not only dissolves it but assists the kidneys in its excretion, and furthermore so cures the kidneys which are in the beginning the cause of the disease as to effect a permanent cure.

LOVE'S WAKING.

Love lies asleep. What dreams he round him through. Frets may guess. But he is tired of hope and fear, of longing. Of passion's stress. Tired, through long years, from the world's first beginning. Too tired to wake. At wealth's loud call, at beauty's whisper, winning. Or answer make. Though king command and minstrel, in true meter. Dead, praise and weep. Than anything on earth, ah, rest is sweeter! Love lies asleep. Sol: Two young pilgrims come from woodland close. Barefoot, yet gay. Clothed with scarce else than garland veils of roses. Sweet beggars, they. Full of health's bliss, of life, of joy, immortal. Untouched by sin. Who know not why they stand beside love's portal Till love joins in. —Madeline Bridges in Life.

MY RIVAL.

HOW HE GOT THE BETTER OF ME IN CONSEQUENCE OF AN ACCIDENT.

I cannot say that I thought much of Mackintosh. He seemed to me a great prig. Good looking? Well, yes, in a barber's block sort of way—curly, oiled hair, pink complexion, white teeth. His teeth were good, I must say, and when he smiled his appearance varied from that of a skunk to that of a dog out of temper about bones. In the summer I had met Dr. and Mrs. Cherry, who were friends of mine. We had been at Delhi once together. They were going out again in December and intending to take their daughter Ellen with them. She was an exceptionally nice girl, with light hair and blue eyes and a low, musical voice (I must say I like blondes, and a harsh voice is one of my crosses), and I saw a good deal of her and should have seen more only Mackintosh was rather in the way.

However, I found out that my friends proposed to go to India by the steamer leaving Marseilles on Jan. 2. And that was just the time my leave was up. It was in the days when one steamer started from Southampton and a few days after another from Marseilles, and they met in Egypt. The journey was cheaper by the way, but I had intended to take that route, but I met Mackintosh at the office and found he was going from Southampton to please a chum. You would scarcely believe it, but it was the case nevertheless, that the Marseilles passengers thought themselves rather more in society than the Southamptoners. So I pondered. "If my agents will find the money, I will give Master Mackintosh the go-by." I took a Southampton berth, but the clerk said I might change it for a Marseilles one afterward if I liked. And this I did. I started from Dover the day after Christmas day and at Paris went straight to the Hotel Byron, where I knew the Cherrys were staying.

"Friend Mac," I said to myself, "with the brand of Southampton on his brow, will never be able to cope with my continental prestige."

I traveled with my friends in a leisurely way. We gave 24 hours to Lyons and reached Marseilles on the evening of Dec. 31. Our inn, the Du Midi, was on the road to the New Quarter, and I have been told, since the building speculations were not so successful, it has been altered and let out in flats. But at that day it was a high, well like house, having a courtyard in the middle, adorned with pomegranates in green boxes, where we sat after table d'hôte and drank coffee and cognac.

Mrs. Cherry had a letter that evening by the post, and I observed that its receipt created interest, and I heard one or two observations which did not, however, in any way interpret themselves to me at the time. "Really, after all?" "But is there time?" "How has it been managed?" and so on.

And when I asked what projects were in view for seeing the place next day Mrs. Cherry only replied, "Something will suggest itself."

Jan. 1 was a general holiday, and from an early hour the streets began to fill, for the peasants came in from the neighborhood, and all the artisans turned out in their gayest costumes. The Cherrys had breakfast in their own apartments, and I on returning from the salle a manger went into my own bedroom, which was high up, and sat at the window smoking a cigarette. Hearing a noise below, I looked out and saw the Cherrys starting, without giving me notice. Ellen, however, observed me.

"Where are you off to?" I called down to her.

There was apparently no cause for alarm. I knew I should get out in time, but still it might be a lousy job. I did not hear much noise and concluded I was among thick walls and not near a grating. But there was some rumbling and shouts as I thought. In a short time, however, all was still. I had not called out, for I was anxious to show I was cool and not disturbed by a trifling accident of the sort. Indeed I had planned to come out smoking, for I had a fucose and a cigar case with me. As there was no vent, however, I put off lighting up till my release was near at hand. I did not wish the air to be closer than it was.

I had just thought vaguely, "They will get me out, and I will emerge smoking." But two things abruptly occurred to me. "How will they get you out?" and then, "Are you sure they will look for you?" By heaven! This latter idea became serious. The lift must have been out of repair, unfit for use. It was careless to leave the grating unlocked. But still there was no attendant, as there would have been if the thing had been in working trim. They might perhaps think the lift passed down of its own accord and that no one was in it.

In point of fact this was so. The Cherry's seemed, walked slowly on and, as I did not follow, thought I was engaged and busied themselves about the drama of the streets. No one was near when I entered the machine, and it had sunk away once before, it was said, without any one touching it, and indeed it was disorganized and not employed.

The chambermaids were at the windows, the waiters at the door, the occupants of rooms were among the way through on the pavements enjoying the sunshine of the south, which danced in a thousand dimples on the blue expanse of the Mediterranean. I did not wish to seem frightened or frantic and so only called out for help at intervals and in an unheeded voice, and no one heard, or hearing, failed to localize the sound.

The Cherrys were out for three hours and on returning, finding no trace of me and hearing of the fall of the lift, at last conceived the idea that I might be inside of it. Of course when this suspicion was once set on foot there was great excitement, but it was not very easy to do anything.

In the first place, on account of the fete, there was an unavoidable delay in getting workmen, and when they were procured the part of the wall where the lift had jammed ran down amid the walls of several small apartments and behind cupboards, and to find where the aperture should be begun was no light matter. With a fucose I could see my watch. I entered the lift at 11 and at 5 was still there, though the voices were close at hand, and the pickaxes seemed to be penetrating the framework of my little box. Even then it appeared long before friendly hands helped me down into the chamber, whence I reached the body of the house.

It was pleasant being an object of female kindness and solicitude, but Dr. Cherry was anxious and desirous I should keep quiet. When I went to bed, I found he had had reason for some apprehension. Sleep entirely deserted me, and an access of nervous excitement ensued. Twelve o'clock struck and then 1. It was intolerable. I should be altogether unmanned without rest. I had hydrate of chloral in my portmanteau, but there was no night light. However, I managed to get the bottle and the toilet tumbler and measured with my finger. The fluid seemed a good deal in drinking, but took effect at once.

When I awoke, I heard an exclamation of relief. There were two or three persons in the room. It was broad daylight. A foreign doctor, who spoke English with an accent, felt my pulse. "He will do now," he said to the others, and, turning to me, added, "You have had a squeak."

"I must get up," I said. "The steamer goes at noon."

"There was a laugh."

"It is long past noon," said the landlord, who was a polyglot, and a young man, an interpreter who attended the trains, put in, with a grin, "I saw the steamer with my eyes pass Chateau d'Iff and a long tail of smoke following."
